

GALAPAGOS

Experienced divers often regard the Galapagos islands as something of a highlight in their scuba diving career. Huge schools of scalloped hammerheads, indigenous Galapagos sharks, manta rays, sea lions, marine iguanas and dolphins are just a few of the highlights that are often encountered .

TRAVEL DATES

JULY 26-AUGUST 2, 2027

We strongly recommend arriving in Ecuador one day before your liveaboard departure date to ensure you are well-rested before the start of the cruise, and stay an additional night after to allow for possible domestic flight schedule changes or delays which could lead to you missing your international departure.

LIVEBOARD INFO	GALAPAGOS MASTER Known locally as Deep Blue, Galapagos Master is a 32 metre scuba diving liveaboard vessel which underwent a complete interior refit to the highest standards in 2015. Constructed from steel, the vessel is steadier than most due to being designed to be lower to aid stability and speed. Mostly recently refurbished in early 2023 She welcomes a total of 16 divers on each liveaboard trip, maximising safety and comfort for all guests on board. Featuring eight air-conditioned cabins spread across three decks, each has its own private en-suite bathroom with hot water, and ample storage room for all of your personal belongings. For added convenience and flexibility, Galapagos Master offers some cabins that can be used either as a twin or as a double bedded room. The communal areas include a spacious indoor lounge on the middle deck The indoor dining area brings a tantalising array of mouth-watering meals, complimented by the adjacent cocktail bar. Photographers can take full advantage of the indoor camera set-up station which includes multiple charging points (US round pin plug). Additional storage drawers to the aft of the vessel mean thatEven photography charter groups will have no problem finding enough space for their equipment.Galapagos Master’s top sun-deck ensures that sun worshippers can top up their tan while soaking up the Galapagos sights. Or, for those who prefer to relax out of the sun, the shaded upper level is an ideal location to chill out in cushioned lounge chairs and benches..
